Lane, Morse Will Be Here

Congressmen Thomas J. Lane and F. Bradford Morse will confront each other here Oct. 19 at the League of Women Voters Candidates' Night.

The 8 p.m. session at the High School is probably the only occasion in the campaign when the two congressmen will occupy the same platform, and answer the same questions.

Their political situation is unique — their districts were "adjusted" by the Legislature. Thus Congressman Lane chose to seek re-election in the Fifth District, which now includes Lawrence.

Sharing the stage that evening will be candidates for other local office — representative, governor's councillor and state senator.

All candidates will have an opportunity to speak for a specific period of time, and will answer a limited number of questions. Oppo-

Ever hear of a pig that ate paper, lots of paper?

Well neither has the pig farmer. And that's the gist of a sad story surrounding the local garbage collection — lots of paper in the garbage pails. And fat little pigs just don't like a diet of ink and paper, or paper bags, or shirt bags.

From complaints heard clear across the town, it has become apparent that the municipal garbage collection is one of the most monstrous headaches a bidder could inherit.

For most of those putting paper in the swill have also complained bitterly when the pail full was left right where it was.

They had all been warned — all homes received the same printed set of instructions — that paper in the garbage just can not be tolerated, because the pigs don't eat it, and the pig farmers don't want to separate it from the usable garbage.

Although this may have been the major source of complaint,

Neighbors Acclaim Sunset Rockers

Three enterprising young ladies of Sunset Rock rd., calling themselves The Sunset Rockers, attracted an audience of 70 youngsters Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 26, with a dramatic production entirely conceived by them. Since the costumes, sets, and script were all "home made", the girls will donate the entire proceeds to the Children's Hospital.

"Curses, Foiled Again" was presented by Carolyn Kennedy, Claudia Comins and Diane Hayes in the driveway of Carolyn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy. The overhead garage doors were used as theatre curtains, while the stage setting itself was inside the garage. Ten minutes before curtain time, it was apparent that flyers the girls had written out by hand and delivered in the neighborhood the day before would attract a surprisingly large audience of small fry, with a smattering of parents.

At intermission, cookies and punch were served and at that time The Sunset Rockers surprised their audience by random selection of a door prize as well as a booby prize. Act III then resumed with the heroine heading toward her doom in an invisibly pulled red wagon. Several sneering male relatives are now contemplating their own productions. Admission to the affair cost five cents, and cookies were sold for two cents. Punch, though, cost three pennies.

Urban Renewal Forum Oct. 10 Open To All

LAST DAY FOR VOTER REGISTRATION

Tomorrow is the last day to register to vote, prior to the state election Nov. 6.

The Registrars will be at the town hall from noon to 10 p.m. on this final day.

Rogers Brook Plans Are In

If state estimates are correct, the town's share of the Rogers Brook construction costs — from the river to Main st. — will be about $139,000.

According to figures presented to the town by the state Division of Waterways, the construction costs will be $222,773. Additionally, another $55,000 for engineering and contingencies must be added.

The town has half of the total cost, the state also contributes 50 percent.

Plans for the project are in the hands of Town Manager Thomas E. Duff for study. It was pointed out at the session that the next step is up to the town — formal approval of the plans must be sent to the state. At that time, bids will be sought, and a contract

Fund Drive By Women Voters

The Andover League of Women Voters will conduct a one-day fund drive Tuesday, Oct. 9.

All contributions will be used to assist the league in conducting its many programs at the local, state and national levels.

The League of Women Voters exists for the purpose of promoting political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. The league does not, and cannot, support any political party or candidate.

The Andover League of Women Voters has a long record of usefulness in the community. In its earlier years, the League worked for tax reforms and improved town services. Immediately after World War II, the League recommended the construction of two new elementary schools, new Residents of the town can "pop the question" and expect to receive answers at the Urban Renewal forum Oct. 10 in Memorial Auditorium.

A capacity crowd is anticipated for the wide-open meeting, sponsored by the Board of Trade. Starting time is 8 o'clock.

On hand will be members of the Board of Selectmen, Planning Board, Housing Authority and Finance Committee. And certain to assume a full share of the evening's work is Urban Renewal Director Ernest N. Hall.

In a new development, it is believed now that some data on redevelopment — an area not explored by the Housing Authority — will be

Merchants To Set Up Trust

A representative group of merchants met Monday night, and agreed to form a realty trust to redevelop the commercial area if Urban Renewal is accepted at town meeting.

A sub-committee was named, to continue a study of the trust and work out the fine points of the organization. Named were:

Stanley Swanton, W. R. Hill, Robert Jeffreys, Douglas Pitman, Joseph B. Doherty and Atty. Robert Zollner.

It has been explained that the meeting Monday night did not result in an expression of opinion for, or against, Urban Renewal. Those present were agreed, however, that local control of redevelopment of the area is most preferable to outside control. And they moved to set up a trust that

Two-way confidential conversations can now be carried on between stations up to 10 miles apart via invisible light rays.

Raytheon Company has disclosed development of a portable communicator which uses a pencil-thin infrared beam to set up the long-distance "private line".

On the battlefield, the IR Communicator can be used to convey tactical commands or relay scout sortie findings. On a police stake-out, law enforcement officials can maintain radio silence yet be in continuous contact.

The new device can solve communication problems at missile sites, blasting sites, and airfields, where radio interference with electronics may create a serious hazard. It can provide oil companies with a private link to offshore oil platforms. Forest rangers can use it to report from mountain top lookouts.

Developed at the firm's laboratories in California, the communicator changes voice sound into infrared rays and beams them to their destination. At the receiving end, a second communicator restores the original sound.

The beam that carries the conversation is so narrow that it is virtually impossible to intercept or tap it.

Rugged and simple, the Model 52 Communicator weighs only 10 3/4 pounds. The simplified design and transistorized circuitry help keep size down to about the size of a lunch box. A 4-power sighting scope doubles as a handle.

Messages are of crisp, radio quality. A built-in speaker also serves as microphone. Even when users are two to three feet from Since graduating, he has been employed at an aircraft company in Seattle, Wash.

Exhibit At Addison Gallery

"History is the story of man's work" begins one of the many captions in the Addison Gallery exhibit, "Art In American History", now signaling the opening of the new school year at Phillips Academy, until Nov. 18. And, it continues, "Those of us who live in the second half of the 20th century have constructed and must ultimately be judged by points of view that are very different than any before. . . . The future cannot be dependent on the past, but can learn something from knowing it nevertheless."

The exhibit at the Addison Gallery of American Art, consisting of American paintings, sculpture, drawings, prints and a few pieces of furniture, glass and silver, is intended to document the changing styles of art in America from the Colonial period to the present day. The captions interpret these style changes in terms of the political, economic and social events which most school texts are confined. What is history if it ignores basic considerations is a question raised by the exhibit. What is education if it does not include some understanding of cultural values which are historically basic is the inevitable question in reply.

For expediency, the examples have been selected from the comprehensive collection of American art which the Addison Gallery has slowly acquired since its inauguration 31 years ago. Each work of art is characteristic of its time; it demonstrates the individual abilities of imagination and con- vance which have been watch- words of Americans since the earliest settlement; each provides evidence of the close artistic relationship between Europeans in the New World with those in the motherlands whence they came.

The exhibition was initially in- stalled for the particular interest of the Summer Session at Phillips Academy, but has been continued so that not only the Winter Ses- sion of the school can profit from the study, but also that schools and colleges in the larger region may have an opportunity to visit it.

The exhibit is intended to serve the interests of classes of History and English, as well as Art, from 11th grade to college sophomore years. It will also serve to amplify, by original examples, the course "Art In American History" to be present Oct. 1 - Nov. 15 as one of the two dozen classes of the 26th season of the Andover Evening

Study Program for Adults and the general museum visitor may find items of personal interest too.

The exhibit, as well as the rest of the Addison Gallery, is open free to the public - weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sundays 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Philip Coppola, 339 South Main st. was welcomed to college by Dr. William Smyser of the Department of Social Science. The occasion was the welcoming tea for freshmen, new advanced students and their parents at the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

The Board of Trade will start off the discussion by asking some specific questions, and has been promised equally specific answers. To best assess the areas which require more information, the Board has sent questionnaires to all its members, asking them to indicate which of a list of questions is the most important. From a tabulation of the replies, it is anticipated that the areas of least understanding will be discovered, and opened up for discussion.

After the Board of Trade starts the proceedings, the voters will have their turn. A moderator will handle the traffic, as it is expected that many queries will be directed to various Board members, as well as at members of the Housing Authority.

It is anticipated that the town boards may each designate one member to answer questions, thus allowing more time for additional questions and answers.

Selectman Russell G. Doyle, chairman of his Board, has promised that the Selectmen will have reached a conclusion on Urban Renewal by the 10th, and will be prepared to discuss the reasons for that position.

Dance At Cafeteria Friday Evening

The Junior Class at the High School will sponsor a dance tomorrow night in the cafeteria, from 8-11.

In charge of the entertainment is Mary Ellen Essiambre; decorations, Linda Bourdelais; refreshments, Ralph Dockray; invitations, Lynne Anderson; publicity, Margaret Scott.

Planning Now For Christmas Lights

Plans are underway to expand the Christmas Lighting program, sponsored by the Board of Trade.

At a meeting Monday morning, members of the special Board committee agreed that additional lights would be desirable, and are doing some research on ways and means of attaining that goal.

Members of the committee are Robert Chase, chairman; Stanley Swanton, R. Milton Cole, O. Russell Johnson and William Hickey. Meeting with the group was Tom Dunklee of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce.

The committee will meet again next week, and it is tentatively planned to have the lights going on Thanksgiving night.

DRIVE-IN WINDOW FOR TAX PAYERS?

How about a drive-in window for the tax collector?

Selectman Philip K. Allen jokingly suggested that modern innovation, as he looked at preliminary plans for the town hall, presently assigned to the Barnard property. He noted, tongue-in-cheek, that the terrain — a steep banking on the easterly side of North Main st. — could be utilized by having cars drive in to a street level area, where drivers could hand over their taxes without getting out of the car.

Sorority Plans Heart Dance

The Essex North Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association has officially expressed its appreciation, for excellent efforts in the past to Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in Andover and through the Association's president, Dr. Herbert J. Hatem, has invited the Sorority to again sponsor the Annual Heart Fund Dance in this area.

At a recent "kick-off" party held for Beta Sigma Phi members at the home of Mrs. Luis Salazar Heart Dance chairman, plans for an elaborate Mardi Gras Ball to be held in February at the Andover Country Club were announced.

According to Edward Donahue, manager of the Club, this will be the first large masquerade charity ball to be held in Andover for quite some time and should be enthusiastically received.

Already many people are planning their costumes. A trip to the costumer is an experience long to be remembered according to reports from those who have already viewed outfits available. There are also a great many people who will particularly enjoy creating their own costumes and, of course, prizes will be awarded for the most outstanding in various categories. Masks will be furnished to those who prefer to come dressed in regular clothing and these people will, of course, be just as welcome as the rest. Mrs. Lester T. Newill, president, has stated that members will only be too happy to give advice to anyone concerned about what to wear.

A program book is planned for this year's Heart Fund Dance and soon Sorority members will begin preparing it. The Massachusetts Heart Fund will benefit directly from this event.

Besides Mrs. Salazar and Mrs. Newill, others concerned with the Mardi Gras are Mrs. Edgar Best, sponsor; Mrs. George Ainscow, Mrs. Frederick Anderson, Mrs. Richard Clukey, Mrs. Weston Eastman, Mrs. George Farrell, Mrs. Richard Homewood, Mrs. J. can adequately handle their requirements.

Within a matter of a week, it is anticipated that a second meeting will be called, when the details of Monday's session can be explained to more members of the business community. The subcommittee will, meanwhile, continue its preparation and plans to report on details of the corporate structure as soon as possible.

At some time in the rather immediate future, it is understood, merchants and businessmen — both in and out of the Urban Renewal area — will be approached to determine their interest in taking part in the redevelopment activity.

Details of the Monday session also will be made available at the Oct. 10 forum sponsored by the Board of Trade, as it is anticipated that many questions there will deal with the redevelopment phase of the program. That session is due to get underway at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium, Junior High School.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"The town manager scheme for separating the citizens from their local government was supposed to eliminate the costliness of government by emergency."

"However, two years ago, a tractor at the dump had to be purchased under those conditions, or so the Finance Committee agreed. Now comes the spectacle of having to buy an ambulance under similar conditions though it's supposed to have been known all along that the ambulance was unreliable."

"Because the town manager plan centralizes responsibility, who is responsible for these two mistakes?"

"And now it's remarkable that this alleged ambulance-hurry-job has come up just at the time that the automobile model year is changing. Accordingly, its hoped that the specifications for the new ambulance contain a requirement that an unconditional guarantee be given that the vehicle has not been driven more than 50 miles. This assures the town that a demonstrator is not being sold to it as a new vehicle. Indeed, it might be that this is some of the cause of the 1956 vehicle being so costly to maintain."

"Moreover, it's puzzling that a management dedicated to efficiency should wish to rush in to buy now when a great motor maker, Chrysler Corporation, is introducing a new 50,000 mile or five year guarantee on its chassis, and its likely that other makers shall soon do likewise. This is particularly remarkable, in view of the record of the ambulance we have now."

"However, I assume that the town has been protected in its recent bid asking by having the call contain the universally used phrase that the right to reject any and all bids has been retained in this calling."

"It has been alleged that we must have the most expensive ambulance because of the needs of 'heart' cases. Can anyone tell us what percent of the ambulance users over the past three years have been heart cases?"

"It's well known that by building the best roads possible, up to 8,000 lives could be saved each year of the 40,000 that are removed by highway accidents. But the extra costs for this extra protection can't be justified by the rules of prudence. And by the same token, Andover can't afford the very best in this matter."

"Moreover, to make a prudent reduction in the money spent for a new ambulance would set up a powerful example for cost cutting throughout the entire local government. For surely if we hold down costs there, we have a superior position from which to hold off the ever increasing demands of all other sectors of government."

"Additionally, if we are going to charge for use of the ambulance, and we should, then one which costs less than $5,000 shall require a smaller service charge than one which costs $10,000. And its likely that in many cases if the person using the ambulance has to pay, he might consider calling upon a private service, thus saving the town whatever money out of pocket the ambulance service costs but is not collected in the established rate."

Dr. Frishman Was Honored

Dr. Daniel Frishman, 14 Castle Heights rd., was honored Monday evening by the Andover Teachers Association.

A scroll citing his "sustaining interest and contribution to public education" was presented by Mrs. Robert Enman, president of the Association. The organization met at the Andover Inn.

Dr. Frishman was chairman of the Community Conference on Education.

Guests at the head table Monday evening included School Committee members William A. Doherty, John S. Sullivan and Vincent P. Davey, accompanied by Mrs. Davey; and Chairman and Mrs. Robert McIntyre.

After a brief business meeting, entertainment was provided by music department students at the High School.

Officers of the Teachers Association include Mrs. Enman, Gerald Silverman, vice president; Miss Mary Lou Sullivan, secretary; and Miss Ruth Nelson, treasurer.

Miss Thelma Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watson of Strawberry Hill rd. has enrolled as a freshman at Wheaton College. She is a recent graduate of Andover High School and was very active as a student while in High School.

Instruction In Square Dancing

The beginner square dance class sponsored by the Raytheon Employees Activities Association of the local plant will hold its third session Friday night, with Paul Pratt of Chelmsford instructing.

The association requests that all members of the class and club visitors wear soft-soled shoes at all sessions.

This session will be the last opportunity for new candidates to register, as the class will then be limited to the current registration. Residents with comparable training will be admitted in later sessions, however.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY OPEN ON SCHEDULE

The Andover Historical Society is happy to report that its curator, Mrs. Margaret Dodge, is getting better.

The Society announces also that the Historical House, at 97 Main st., is open as usual Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 4 p.m. needed projects should be started at once, and finished over a period of years, or whether one project should be started and finished each year.

Selectman B. Allen Rowland presented the philosophy that one project should be started and finished, then go on to the next one. He reasoned that this would equalize the annual expenditures each year to the same degree that starting, but not finishing, several projects will do.

The capital expenditure program envisions beginning a number of projects, and paying for them over 10 years. Some would be done in stages, over two or three years.

In rebuttal, it was noted that the demands of the town are such that several projects may have to be started in a year, on a schedule calling for completion at a later date.

Used as an example was the construction of a garage at the town yard on Lewis st.

One theory would have the entire appropriation - an estimated $100,000 - voted in a year, with construction of the whole project.

The opposing view is that the work could be started in one year, with additions being made annually until the building is completed. Because of the necessity of building fire walls, it was stated, the bays could be built separately, without additional expense to the town.

MR. BALDWIN WILL ADDRESS GROUP

Hospital To Gain From Project

The annual fall rummage sale conducted by the Lawrence General Hospital Hospitality Shop Committee will be held Oct. 17 at Trinity Congregational Church on Haverhill st., Lawrence, from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Clothing in excellent condition, household items, toys, jewelry, and white elephant articles will be sold, and the proceeds donated to the Hospital.

During its 16 years of service in the Hospital, this committee has undertaken many extensive projects and this year is modernizing four bathrooms at Prescott House, one of the residences for student nurses of the Lawrence General Hospital School of Nursing.

Any donations for the sale may be left at the Church Tuesday, Oct. 16 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., or donors may call either the Hospitality Shop at the Hospital or any member of the committee for collection.

Co-chairmen for this event are Mrs. William H. Searle, Mrs. John B. Edmonds and Mrs. Walter E. Curtis. The committee also includes the chairman, Mrs. Andrew B. Sutherland, president of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. J. Rodney Ball, Mrs. Franklin J. Emmett, Mrs. Joseph T. Gagne, Mrs. Charles B. Hodges, Mrs. Harold W. Leitch, Mrs. Herbert H. Veit, Mrs. Julius F. Emmert, Mrs. Mitchell Kolsky, Mrs. Daniel Taylor, Mrs. Francis A. O'Reilly, Mrs. Thomas R. Sutton, Mrs. N. Stowers, Mrs. George B. Westhaver, Mrs. John Oddy and Mrs. Richard E. Barton.

Plans for this and other fund raising affairs were made at a recent meeting at the Hospital at which Mrs. Sutherland presided.

Mrs. Iva R. Archambault of Albany, N. Y. and her sister, Mrs. Mildred Snow of San Diego, Cal., have been spending the past three weeks as guests of Mrs. Newman Matthews of High Plain rd.

WEEKDAY SCHOOL - Many young people attend the Weekday School of Religious Education, being held this year at Christ Church. These are a few of the class members, who were being given a brief quiz by their teacher, Mrs. Arthur Weaver. (Staff Photo)

Many Enrolled In Weekday Religious Classes

Through the Andover Council of Churches, the Protestant churches of Andover are conducting the Weekday School of Christian Education for the 18th consecutive year.

The school is conducted on a "released-time" basis in co-operation with the Andover Junior High School. This year the classes are held in Christ Church, from 11:15-12 every Tuesday.

Thirty-one are enrolled in the seventh grade which has a "Survey of the Old Testament" for curriculum. Teaching in the seventh grade are Mrs. Kenneth Minard, a graduate of Smith College, who has also studied at Harvard, Boston University, Cambridge and Oxford, and who is an experienced teacher; and Mrs. J. Edison Pike, a graduate of Garland College, who has also studied at Boston University and taught church school for 10 years. Mrs. Minard begins her sixth year in the Weekday School; this is Mrs. Pike's first.

Twenty-eight are enrolled in the eighth grade, which has a "Survey of the New Testament" for curriculum. Teaching in the eighth grade are Mrs. Arthur Weaver, a graduate of Toronto Bible College and participant in many Bible conferences and a teacher of wide experience; and S. Scott Bartchy, graduate of Milligan College, who has also studied at Christian Theological Seminary and served as minister to congregations in Tennessee and Indiana, before coming to Harvard Divinity School in which he is presently enrolled. Mrs. Weaver is teaching in the school for the third year. Mr. Bartchy is beginning his third year as director of Christian Education for the Council of Churches.

Thirteen are enrolled in the ninth grade, which is pursuing detailed studies in the Gospel of Luke during the first semester. Bible commentaries, concordances, dictionaries, atlases, and word books are tools which the ninth graders are learning to use. Mrs. John Murray, a graduate of Northfield School and of a three-summer Religion Education conference at Northfield, and who has served as superintendent and teacher in the Free Christian Church School, is the teacher. She is beginning her sixth year in the Weekday School.

The purpose of the school is to teach each student to use the Bible with skill and understanding. The Bible itself is the primary textbook, and examinations are given on biblical content. The Weekday School in Andover is held during public school hours because of the conviction that no one growing up in Western culture has been completely educated unless he is familiar with the contents of the Bible in its historical setting. The classes emphasize knowledge of the Bible, rather than moral instruction as such. The academic emphasis of the school day is recognized through the report cards which are sent home four times a year and an honor roll which is published in this newspaper.

Mr. Bartchy has announced that new students will be enrolled Feb. 1 for the second semester.

nents will also have the opportunity to comment on questions asked of their opponents.

Because the meeting here of the two congressional candidates is probably the only time this will happen during the campaign, the League has asked Leagues in all of the towns and cities within the district to attend. They also are asking city and town committee chairmen in the surrounding area to come.

The voters of Andover will be specially welcome, according to General Chairman Mrs. Jerome Andrews Jr.

Preceding the speaking, the League has planned a torch-light parade, starting at Phillips Academy and winding its way down Main st. and to the High School.

Following the speaking program, dues, and an instruction period in flower arrangement. Instruction in the arrangement of fall flowers and foliage will be under the direction of Mrs. Ralph H. Hill, Mrs. Mitchell Johnson Jr., Mrs. Charles M. Poore and Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson. There will be awards, according to age, for the best exhibits. Children are asked to bring small, low containers, suitable for such arrangements, and pin holders. The committee will have a large selection of flowers and foliage on hand. Junior Garden Club projects for the coming year will be announced.

Mrs. Walter L. Curtis will continue as treasurer for the Junior group, with Mrs. Adeline M. Wright as counselor, assisted by the following Committee members: Mrs. Louis H. Anderson, Mrs. Richard I. Anderson, Mrs. John B. Cecill Jr., Mrs. Mitchell Johnson Jr., Mrs. Robert H. Lange, Mrs. Philip K. Ryder, Mrs. Daniel L. Sullivan Jr., and Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson.

Semi-Finalists At Local Schools

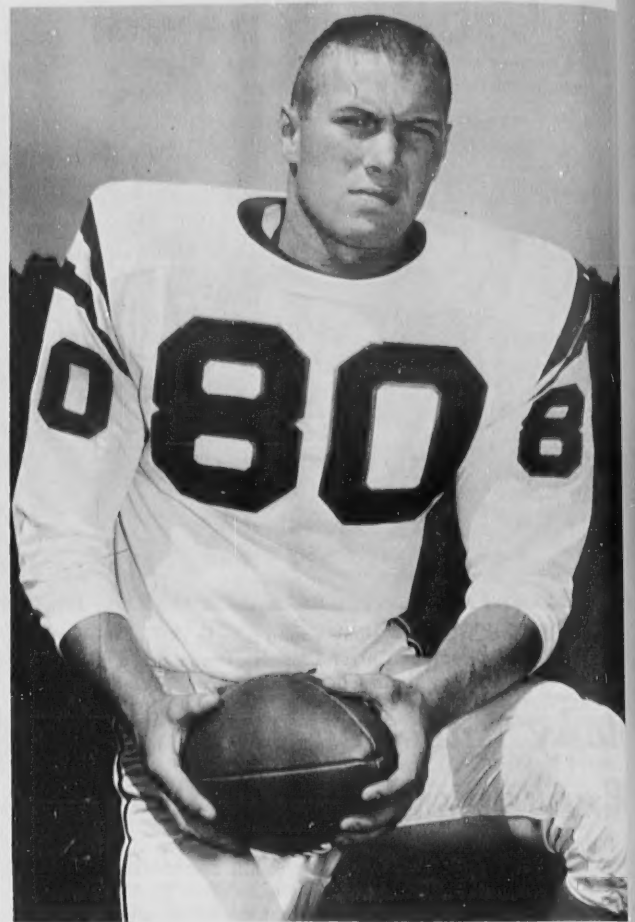

Several local students have been listed as semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

From Andover High, Philip A. Coates was named a semi-finalist.

The contestants have to qualify in an examination, to be named semi-finalists. The test was given in more than 16,000 schools last March.

Donald Moore of Kirkland dr. recently left for Stephens College, Hoboken, N. J., where he will resume his studies.

Dick Bourdelais of Andover has a starting berth on the University of Massachusetts varsity football team which opened its season Sept. 22 against the University of Maine. Bourdelais, a 6'3" end, is only a sophomore but has impressed the Redmen coaching staff with his agility and sure-handedness on pass receiving. Dick graduated from Andover High School and is majoring in Physical Education at the University. He led the freshman team in pass receiving last fall and should be an important factor in the success of the Massachusetts air attack this season.

Calling For Bids For Another Bus

One, and possibly two, school buses will be added by the School Committee.

Authorization to add another bus to the fleet of privately owned and operated buses was given at last week's meeting. And Supt. of schools Edward I. Erickson warned the Committee that still another bus may be needed before the end of the year.

A spare bus is now in operation, the superintendent told the Committee, because the need for it was apparent just after the opening of school. Specifications are being drawn up, and bids will be sought for a new vehicle. In Andover, the driver-owner policy requires that the bidder must drive his own bus, unless special circumstances such as illness interfere.

During the session, Dr. Milton J. Meyers noted that school transportation last year cost — before state aid — $75,000. The addition of one bus would add $5,000 to this figure. He suggested that persons seeking to have their children driven to school, who live closer than the mile limit, give this cost estimate serious thought.

Cub Pack Will Be Organized

An organization meeting and registration night for the new Cub Pack to be formed at the Henry C. Sanborn School will be held Oct. 5 at the school, at 7:30 p.m.

The boys and their parents will hear Everaid Grain, field scout executive, speak on "The Boy from Hickory Street". He will also assist in organizing the Pack.

Boys eight, nine or 10 are eligible.

Young People Climbed Mountain

Nearly 100 young people from Christ Church, climbed Mt. Monadnock in Jaffrey, N. H., last Sunday.

The outing was sponsored by the Junior and Senior Episcopal Young Churchmen of Christ Church. The adult committee who helped with this excursion were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Blamire Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Perkins, Mrs. Allen Perry, Mr. and Mrs. James Poloian, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Prendergast, Robert Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Spinney, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Thompson, Miss Nancy E. Howard, the Rev. D. Frank Hayden and the Rev. J. Edison Pike.

This Sunday evening the senior young people will end their "campaign" and after their final election speeches will ballot for the various offices. The junior Episcopal Young Churchmen will have a program called "Religious Password".

At both meetings, final plans will be made for a food sale to be held at the Andover Co-op Saturday, Oct. 13, and a bean supper that evening in the Parish House.

Will Ask Voters For Study Funds

A $10,000 request will face the voters at the Nov. 19 special town meeting.

The School Committee has voted to ask for the sum for "study and preliminary plans for secondary school expansion needs".

Architect Frank Crimp suggested the sum as being a reasonable amount for such a study - he believed from $5,000 to $10,000 will be involved. The study should take about three months, he told the School Board, and will develop all of the possibilities involved in expansion of the secondary schools. When this is finished, the School Committee must decide which of the alternatives it desires - then another six months will be required for preliminary plans for whatever the Committee has approved.

Pilgrim Fellowships Were Busy Sunday

Members of the Junior High Pilgrim Fellowship of the West Church met in the Vestry at 5 last Sunday evening.

A pot luck supper was enjoyed. Everyone brought something eatable and following the Worship service a Variety Show was enjoyed by the young people.

At 7, the Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship were hosts to a group of young people from the South Church, under the direction of the new associate minister, Nathan J. Senft. Movies were shown and a talk was given on Evangelical and Reformed Church History by Mr. Senft. A large group of young people attended both groups.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Candidates Night

One of the real spectaculars of the political season will be staged in Andover Oct. 19, when the League of Women Voters Candidates' Night will be held at the High School.

We recommend your attendance - this is the one time when Congressmen Lane and Morse will be on the same platform and will have an opportunity to answer questions from the audience. Though not a debate of the same kind featured on television in recent weeks, the Congressmen will certainly be exposed to hundreds of voters at this session, and will have to answer questions designed to enlighten the voters.

This should be a worthwhile evening. Plan to attend.

Disappointing Document

We have been badly disappointed by the capital expenditure program, as outlined in its tentative state by the consultants.

Although the financial framework required to handle such a plan has been spelled out, the consultants have used very little judgment as to the necessity of various projects.

Rather, except in three recreation proposals, all of the plans submitted by department heads were assumed to be necessary.

Then the costs were accepted, as presented by the department heads, and shuffled into the financial framework on the basis of keeping expenditures balanced during the seven years. There seems to have been more regard for juggling projects based on cost, than on the relative need.

Moreover, we submit that consultants, experts in their field, should not accept cost estimates without first examining the figures to find out whether they are realistic. Some departments have well defined plans for the future, with professional estimates that can be relied upon. Others, we feel, guess at the costs. It is not equitable to accept these figures and throw them all into the same plan, without sharp scrutiny and adjustment.

It looks as though the Selectmen will have to red pencil some of the projects, and adjust others on the priority list, before we come up with anything realistic. Probably they could have done that in the first place.

The Fate Of Urban Renewal

The newly-formed organization of merchants and businessmen, who are interested in forming a realty trust under the Urban Renewal project, will be watched closely by many residents.

The group of men - whose idea is to retain local control of redevelopment if Urban Renewal is approved by town meeting - have a lot of work to do. And the extent of their success may well be a measure of the success or failure of Urban Renewal at the town meeting.

For to many residents, one of the unpleasant factors associated with Urban Renewal has been the possibility of outside control of the area. And although there has been talk about local participation, this is the first time that a serious group has been gathered for the purpose.

If the organization succeeds in its goal, and is able to present a well-defined statement of its purposes and guarantees of participation by local firms and individuals, Urban Renewal may be more acceptable to a large segment of the voters.

19 Next meeting of the Andover Civil War Roundtable.

Attend Conference
Members of the library staff will attend various programs at the annual New England Library Association Conference this week at New Ocean House at Swampscott. This year Andover has a particular interest in the program because one of the staff of the Memorial Hall Library will participate on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Lane, Children's Librarian, is to give the Caroline M. Hewins Lecture at 2 p.m. Her subject "Rachel Field and her Contribution to Children's Literature" is sure to have a wide appeal to all librarians and many others who have ever read "Hitty", perhaps her most memorable book for young readers.

A number of years ago Mr. Frederick Melcher of Publishers Weekly established a fund for the Caroline M. Hewins Lectureship in Children's Literature, under the sponsorship of the Round Table for Children's Librarians. The lecture is given during the annual meeting of the New England Library Association each fall. Emphasis is on New England authors of children's literature in all lectures, and speakers are chosen two years in advance.

Speakers for the evening programs of the conference are to be John Mason Brown, editor at large for the Saturday Review and Richard Llewellyn, author of "How Green Was My Valley".

Great Books

The next meeting of the Great Books Discussion Group will be held at the library on Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m. The reading is Spinoza's "On The Improvement of the Understanding".

Civil War Group

At their opening meeting this fall, the members of the Andover Civil War Roundtable decided to set their program for every other month during the remainder of the season. As in the past, the group will come together on the third Monday, at 7:30 o'clock. The meetings will be in November, January, March and May. Newcomers are welcome to join at any time, the only requisite being a sincere interest in the Civil War and its aftermath.

For full information, call Mr. Stanley Butcher, who is in charge of the group.

Littlest Listeners

Mothers who have registered their three, four and five year olds for this autumn's Littlest Listener programs will wish to enter the group designated below, arranged to bring together families who live in the same area or whose children are likely to attend the same school. The groups may be rearranged after the opening meetings to suit the convenience of mothers and staff, but at present the Cardinals is composed of Central and South Elementary schools, and they will meet on Wednesday morning, Oct. 10 at 10 o'clock in the Children's room of the library. The following day Ballardvale little people who have registered with Mrs. Ackerman in the branch room will have their opening at 10 o'clock. On Wednesday, Oct. 17, children who live in the area of Shawshoen, West or Sanborn Schools will have their opening meeting.

Littlest Listeners have three quarters of an hour of stories, music, simple games and activities. All children who take part in this program must have passed a third birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rooks have returned to their home on High Plain rd. after spending three weeks at West Dennis, Cape Cod.

What Our Readers Say—

To The Editor of the Townsman:
"Although childhood memories of autumn for some may be special with the pungent aroma of burning leaves, weeds, and grasses; I would like to mention that for some chronic sufferers of asthma or hay fever, the season can be one of dread and suffering.

"Few would intentionally add to such a dilemma and many probably do not realize that their cheerfully burning piles of leaves and debris can be for many children, and adults too, a cause of painful spasm and sometimes - the need for hospitalization and the oxygen tent.

"Since I am such a sufferer, as are two of my children, I appeal to the thoughtfulness of my townsfolk and neighbors to give consideration to an alternate method for the disposition of fall rubbish. May I suggest that leaves layered with lime and some commercial fertilizer, and piled in an unobtrusive spot in the back yard, can produce an excellent and a comparatively inexpensive method of mulching and fertilizing lawns and gardens in the springtime.

"I also wish to thank many of our neighbors for their consideration, in our behalf, during this time of year."

Down the Years with The Townsman

60 Years Ago - October, 1912

Roy E. Hardy, Alexander Morrison and Roy Rhodes have returned to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to resume their studies.

Miss Nellie H. Farmer of the Andover Press has been given a leave of absence. She intends to travel to California.

E. V. French of Lynn is occupying George T. Eaton's house on Bartlet st., during the latter's absence in Europe.

Andover has a new physician, Dr. E. D. Lane, a homeopathic doctor, who has opened an office over Whiting's store.

Over 50 employees of the Tyr Rubber Co., laborers working on the Tyr factory, and those working at construction of the Joyce residence, stopped work this week long enough to join a Lawrence mob in an I.W.W. dispute.

A special committee has been appointed by the School Committee to consider the increased cost of transportation, which is now $2,500.

A new freight yard is to be constructed where the old Free Church stood on Railroad st.

25 Years Ago - October, 1937

The Rev. Albert Coursin Morris, vicar of the Church of Ascension in Boston, yesterday accepted a call from the Christ Church, and will become rector here the first Sunday in November.

Abbot Academy began its 108th year Tuesday, with a capacity enrollment of 124 resident students. The number is nine over the 1936 enrollment.

Miss Louise Sherman will be installed as president of the A.P.C. Sorority of the South Church at the opening meeting next Thursday night.

Andover gave Republican Edward Sirois a commanding lead in the race for Congress, in Tuesday's special election. But despite his 1837 to 880 margin, Sirois was overwhelmingly defeated in the district. Lawrence and Lynn rolled up tremendous pluralities for Democrat Connery, brother of the late Congressman.

Harvey G. Turner was appointed chairman of the Finance Committee at a meeting Tuesday night. He succeeds Hugh Bullock.

10 Years Ago - October, 1952

Open House will be held at the new Central Elementary School Sunday from 4-6.

Stirred by the coming presidential elections, many residents have been registering to vote.

Many local people plan to attend the meeting of the Essex County Board of Trade, which plans to sponsor some Andover projects. Chief among these is the two-lane divided highway at Phillips Academy.

Ernest N. Hall has resigned as chairman of the Housing Authority, and the Selectmen have replaced him on the Board with Thomas Wallace.

Farewell Party For Kelstrups

A farewell party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kelstrup of Academy Acres in honor of Mr. Kelstrup's promotion, and transfer to Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Kelstrup is associated with Microwave, Inc. The party was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clinton Seeley of Academy Acres last Saturday and the Kelstrups were presented with a sterling silver tray by the Academy Acres Associates.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kelstrup, Dr. and Mrs. Clinton Seeley, Dr. and Mrs. Isadore Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farr, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Theriault, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Shulze, Mr. and Mrs. Robert

JOINS CHORUS

Thirty-five new members have been accepted into the University of Maine chorus, Director Prof. Lewis Niven said Friday.

They were chosen after try-outs held earlier this week. They include Patricia Coffman of Andover, a soprano.

License Question Over Technicality

The Indian Ridge Country Club must apply for a second liquor license, to serve the second of three proposed buildings.

Through a technicality in the law, two separated buildings are considered as two sites, requiring two licenses. But stretch a canopy between the buildings and the two become one, in the eyes of the law.

Following this explanation at the Selectmen's meeting Monday night, the Board agreed to have the Club apply for a second license.

The Club already has a "club" license, and was granted a seasonal license, expiring Nov. 30, at the time of its recent open house.

The State Alcoholic Beverage Commission had disapproved the Selectmen's action in making the existing "club" license cover the Pro Shop, a new structure. That agency pointed out that the cabana, to which the license was issued and the Pro Shop, are separate and distinct.

ANOTHER RENEWAL AREA — This photo takes in part of Park st., which is within the Urban Renewal plan. This area would be redeveloped under present planning, with present structures taken down and the land prepared for a developer to acquire and build.

Club, noted that a canopy could be constructed between the two buildings, and thus they would become one. But he said this is not a preferred course of action because of the cost.

Rather, he offered to guarantee that if the Selectmen will issue a second club license, the Country Club will voluntarily return it if there is any demand from other sources. At present, there are two un-used club licenses.

The Selectmen, however, wondered if they could really enter into such an agreement, or whether the only basis for relinquishing a license is a violation. Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien said he had never heard of any such arrangement, but thought perhaps one might be worked out, after study.

The Selectmen, however, felt that a properly-scheduled application will give the Board time enough to study the matter. In the meantime, the Club is covered by having the second, seasonal license in hand.

When that expires, Nov. 30, the Club hopes to have arranged a more permanent situation, for it plans to remain open four days weekly during the winter.

Mr. Giles also pointed out that, eventually, the planned clubhouse will be between the cabana and the Pro Shop — and at that time it will all be legal, because the buildings will be joined.

Rep. Arthur Williams told the Board of Selectmen that he will try to have Waterways representatives in Andover next Monday night to go over the plans and the estimated costs.

Selectman William Stewart, recalling that Stoneham was presented with a bill for many extras on a similar job, insisted that the state men be prepared to break down the costs and justify each of them.

Approves Vocational School Proposal

By a 3-2 decision, the School Committee has approved the proposed regional vocational high school.

Member John S. Sullivan proposed taking action, and the motion was seconded by Dr. Milton J. Meyers.

Members William A. Doherty and Vincent P. Davey voted against approving the school.

Mr. Sullivan, who has represented the School Committee on the regional school study committee, reminded the Board that action now will not bind the town. The town meeting, it was explained, must take action before Andover can be tied into the system.

Lawrence votes on the proposal this November, and the surrounding towns will take action at the annual town meetings.

Central PTA Meets Oct. 18

Central Elementary PTA will meet Oct. 18, for the first time this fall.

Classroom visitations will take place from 7:45 to 8:15, followed by a general business meeting at 8:30. The count will be taken during this meeting, to determine the classroom winning the attendance award.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

The dates of Oct. 10 and 11 have been set aside for room mothers to be at school for the annual membership drive.

Mrs. Sullivan Was Peabody's Nurse

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan, 42 Essex st., has finally joined the Citizens for Peabody Committee, an organization she "originated" 42 years ago.

Mrs. Sullivan, the former Margaret Durkee, was the family nurse of the Rt. Rev. Malcolm Peabody, pastor of Grace Episcopal Church, Lawrence, when his wife gave birth to a boy. That boy was Endie Peabody.

Now 76, Mrs. Sullivan says she has joined the organization because, "I helped bring Endie into the world, and now I want to help bring him into the State House".

Q.—I bought some Series E Saving Bonds while I was in the service 2 years ago. I have held on to the bonds past their redemption date. Are these old bonds earning as much interest as the new Series E bonds?

A.—Yes, they are. Although interest rates on Series E bonds are higher now than they were 20 years ago, the most recent interest increase was applied to old bonds as well as new ones. Happily, the interest on your bonds has continued to build with the years.

Q.—I was recently widowed. I am working to support my family. My late husband's savings were invested in Series E bonds, on which I am listed as co-owner. Must I pay federal income tax on the interest accrued each year?

A.—Interest on E bonds is subject to federal income tax. However, you have a choice of payment. Many people prefer to wait until the bonds reach maturity date and then declare the accumulated interest. Others exchange the E bonds for Series H bonds and further postpone tax payment on the accumulated interest. Income tax on the E bonds thus accumulated does not have to be paid until the H bonds are redeemed (or mature).

Q.—We are an elderly retired couple living in Florida. Do the new Series H bonds have any special value for people with fixed retirement incomes?

A.—Series H bonds are an attractive investment for retired folks. These bonds pay interest at the rate of 3 3/4% yearly, just as E bonds do. However, they have one important advantage—you receive the interest checks every six months while you own the bonds, so that you are receiving a current return on your investment.

TOO MUCH PAPER IN GARBAGE PAILS

other factors have entered into the collection story.

Pails are placed way down back behind the garage, and are left. More complaints.

The driver misses a street because he doesn't know the town too well. Again, complaints.

As far as can be learned, there have been only one or two messages of approval — but hundreds of calls complaining about the lack of service have been received at the town hall and the contractor's home in Methuen.

It isn't a one-sided street of course — whole streets or occasional houses have been missed, and calls have been received in those cases.

But as far as can be learned, there has been a remarkable lack of patience displayed by hundreds of residents.

And patience is what town officials have been asking for — a period of time in which the contractor can learn the town, find hidden pails, and clear up any confusion.

After some time, a town employee was assigned to the contractor for a brief period, and this appears to be working out nicely in relocating routes and calming many anxious housewives.

And officials concerned with the problem, mainly Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, hope that patience will be more apparent and the telephone calls much less abundant. They feel that time will help solve many of the problems, if residents cooperate.

Above all — they hope everyone remembers that little pigs will never get to market if they're fed a diet of newsprint, wrapping paper and ink.

There will be no visiting hours.

Bloodmobile Here

OCTOBER 23-24

The fall community Bloodmobile, sponsored by the Andover Chapter of the American Red Cross, will be held at South Church, Oct. 23 and 24.

The Bloodmobile will be open for the collection of blood from 12:45 to 6:45 p.m.

A telephone corps will be on duty at the Andover Red Cross headquarters to receive reservations for this community day. As in past years, the Junior Red Cross members will wash windshields to make as many people as possible aware of the Bloodmobile. Anyone between the ages of 18 to 59, inclusive, is eligible to donate.

Prof. Wood Offers

Analysis Of State

Various explanations for the dramatic deterioration of the Massachusetts image in the eyes of the nation were examined by Prof. Robert Wood of M.I.T. at the fall luncheon of the Andover League of Women Voters Sept. 25.

Professor Wood rejected both the economic interpretation of Massachusetts politics and the thesis that Massachusetts is ravaged by the politics of ethnic groups. Similarly and amusingly, he dismissed the arguments of the school of thought which explains present day Massachusetts politics in terms of an inherent schizophrenia which dates from the Mayflower Compact.

The ignominy which taints Massachusetts politics, in Prof. Wood's opinion, results from an outmoded state constitution which severely limits the power of the executive, provides for too large a legislature, and encourages a proliferation of independent authorities more powerful than elected officials. As antidotes for our present political ills, Prof. Wood suggested more purposeful political parties, more judicious use of the initiative and referendum as well as a constitutional convention to review and reform the state constitution.

Organists Will Convene Here

A tri-chapter convocation of The American Guild of Organists will be held in this area Saturday, Oct. 6.

Members of the Boston Chapter, the New Hampshire Chapter, and the Merrimack Valley Chapter will convene at Cochran Chapel of Phillips Academy at 10:30 to register; at 11 o'clock they will hear a recital by Dr. Lorene Banta, organist of the Academy, assisted by William Clift, head of the department of Music, as trumpeter. At noon, while a carillon program is played by student carillonneur Joel Caron, they will view the Academy campus.

Afternoon events will be a half-hour recital at Methuen Memorial Music Hall at 2, a tour of organ factories, and a half-hour recital at 3:30 in Redeemer Lutheran Church of Lawrence.

Visitors will be welcome at the 11 o'clock recital in Cochran Chapel.

Plans Made For DAR Activities

New programs for Priscilla Abbot Chapter, D.A.R., have been issued to the members, and the first meeting of the season will be held Oct. 9, at the home of Mrs. Roland Weeks, 32 Maple Ave.

The meeting will open with dessert being served at 2 o'clock after which the regular business will be conducted.

The program starts off for the year with a talk on National Defense, and a speaker from Hanscom Air Base has been contacted to give much needed information on this subject.

Several new members have been added to the Chapter during the past year and others are being listed who are having their papers certified at National headquarters in Washington.

The hostesses for the first meeting include besides Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. William Trow, Mrs. Thomas Dea and Mrs. Ernest Edmands.

Workshop To Be Held By Club

The Spade and Trowel Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Lybrand, 50 Shaw-sheeh rd., Oct. 9 at 8 p.m.

A flower workshop will be held and members are reminded to take materials for the workshop with them.

Glue Sniffers Can Die Of Fumes, Commissioner Says

Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, Massachusetts commissioner of public health, has requested the help of Bay State merchants, parents and school teachers in a campaign to stamp out a teenage glue sniffing fad.

A Fall River boy died two weeks ago while sniffing model airplane glue.

Medical authorities in other sections of the country have examined boys who sniffed glue and publicly expressed fears that they may have suffered serious physical effects.

Dr. George Michael, director of the Department's Food and Drug Division, recommended the following three point campaign:

1. Storekeepers should immediately report to local police or the Food and Drug Division any sudden increase in sales of model airplane glue. They should limit individual sales of glue to youngsters. Stores should post or give a verbal warning that such glue must be used in a well ventilated room.

2. Parents suspecting or told that their children deliberately sniffed glue should take their children to a doctor for examination without delay.

3. School teachers should note irritability, inattentiveness, sleeping, or loss of consciousness as symptoms of glue sniffing.

"Any youngster thrill seeking with model airplane glue risks health and life. Not only do they chance disease and irreparable damage, but also can develop some degree of psychological dependency.

"The immediate effect is one of mild intoxication, exhilaration and a sense of well being. The person then begins to act drunk, losing muscular coordination and slurring words. At this time there is double vision and a buzzing in the ears. Drowsiness, stupor and unconsciousness may follow with the person remaining unresponsive for an hour or more. The drying solvents in the glue release vapor fumes which are sought by the sniffers", according to Dr. Frechette.

Good News For Mothers

Science—with a new swivel spoon—has struck a blow to outwit cagey youngsters. Today's scientists believe that now they have a spoon that will help the mothers of the nation, and, incidentally, get more food into the baby.

The new spill-proof baby training spoon is self-leveling no matter how the baby grips it—thanks to the new swivel action. The weight of the food helps to keep the spoon-bowl level.

YOU and your DOG.

A dog thinks about its food a great deal. So should the wise dog owner.

The way a dog is fed is probably the most important single factor in keeping it healthy. Improper diet may result in skin troubles, rickets, or other diseases.

Commercial dog foods, carefully cooked home dishes, table scraps, or combinations of these ingredients can make a very tasty and filling diet for any dog.

But no matter what a dog is fed, remember that, like a human, a dog must have the proper balance of vitamins and minerals in its diet.

To insure the daily minimum requirement of the essentials, experienced dog owners add a vitamin and mineral supplement to the dog's daily feeding. Vitamin and mineral supplements made especially for dogs may be obtained at drug or pet counters everywhere. They come in powder or capsule form.

It costs only pennies a day to make sure a dog is getting the proper diet for good health.

Boston's Museum of Science says that our Solar System includes nine planets (one is Earth), along with their 31 moons, more than 50,000 "minor planets" or asteroids, thousands of comets, and countless meteorites—all bound by gravity to the sun.

Long Hours, Low Pay For Ministers

A new survey of America's Protestant ministers shows that they are still among the most overworked and underpaid professional men in the country. They are also the most uncomplaining. But professional research reveals that over 63 per cent of ministers find that administration takes too much of their time. Nearly 50 per cent feel they do not have enough time for study and prayer. And there is no 40-hour week for ministers. Their work week averages 70 hours.

The 1962 survey, sponsored by Ministers Life and Casualty Union, Minneapolis, which sells insurance of all kinds only to clergymen, their dependents, and other persons in full-time church-related work, showed a slight improvement in ministers' finances since 1958 when a similar survey was made. Still, 42 per cent of ministers find finances are a definite problem, and only 29 per cent say that finances are no problem. Two most critical money problems for ministers are long-range ones of how to finance college education for their children (65 per cent wonder how they'll manage it) and what housing they will have in retirement (80 per cent expect to reach retirement with no housing provided). Over 39 per cent of ministers report their finances are inadequate to meet basic living expenses.

A leaflet reporting the results of the 1962 survey of ministers' problems and comparing them with the 1958 results is available free from Ministers Life, Minneapolis 16, Minn.

The pretty flowers on the Altar table of the West Church were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, in memory of Mrs. Russell's father, Floyd S. Carman and her sister, Mrs. Lorraine C. Ryan.

Men's Club Will Install Officers

JOHN B. McALLISTER

The annual installation dinner dance of The Andover Catholic Club will be held at the Andover Country Club Saturday evening, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The Andover Catholic Club was organized by the late Rev. Matthew F. McDonald, O.S.A., and 12 men in 1944. The Club took for its motto "To serve youth". It has flourished and grown over the years to its present membership of over 250.

Very Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., Andover Catholic Club Moderator, will install the following officers for 1962-'63: John B. McAllister, president; Atty. Thomas B. Murphy, first vice president; John F. Lyons, second vice president; Henry T. Rooney, secretary and Eugene H. Sheehan, treasurer.

The affair is open to the public and reservations may be made through any of the officers.

$80,000 Kitty To Buy Land

The town has a net sum of $80,928 available for "land acquisition", according to Town Manager Thomas E. Duff - but he has told the Selectmen that existing requirements can more than use it up.

In making a start towards acquiring some land that has been wanted for a long time, the Selectmen told Mr. Duff to have land taking papers drawn up for the boy Scout and the Manning land around Pomp's Pond. Both Mr. Duff and Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien agreed that a negotiated purchase will be sought, before taking land by eminent domain. Mr. O'Brien suggested during the meeting that Mr. Duff not reveal the anticipated prices, because this might endanger the negotiations. Both Selectmen William Stewart and B. Allen Rowland agreed that property owners are likely to boost their prices if they know what the town intends to offer. Mr. Duff, while noting that the information has been discussed many times publicly, gave the Board the data in written form.

In addition to the two parcels mentioned, he said a proposed school site of 29 acres in South Andover, land around the town dump for the sanitary land fill and an access onto Pearson st. from the Lewis st. town yard will cost more than the nearly $81,000 available now.

Duff also harked back to a capital expenditure meeting a week ago, when the Finance Committee wanted to know whether some of this money will be available for additional school sites.

Monday night, the Selectmen felt that the $150,000 for the three new school sites should not be appropriated in 1963 but could be spread over three years.

Selectman William Stewart and others on the Board felt that there is no need to appropriate the money if the sites are not going to be acquired within the current year.

He reasoned that the cost of land is going up, regardless of a town appropriation.

Thus, land worth $50,000 in 1963 will be worth more in 1964, and more money will have to be voted then.

There was general agreement among Board members that action should be taken to acquire parcels, if they have been designated for purchase, rather than waiting for a considerable period of time after money has been voted.

Club Department Planning Tour

The American Heritage Department of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will hold its first meeting of the year Friday - a trip to Ipswich and Gloucester.

Members will meet at Christ Church at 9:45 a.m. and following a visit to the historical homes in Ipswich, luncheon will be served at the Marguery. In the afternoon, the group will visit the Hammond Museum in Gloucester.

Only 8 Plays In 4 Minutes?

Eight plays apparently took up four minutes, and may have cost Andover the ball game Saturday at the Playstead.

After seeing the movies of the game, Coach Dick Collins said eight plays were run, and the officials measured one first down situation. Then the game was over, with Andover on Danvers' three-yard line and apparently ready to break the 6-6 deadlock.

Andover had scored in the first period, then Danvers evened it up in the fourth period. Both teams failed to score extra points.

Both players on the field, on the bench and spectators in the stands were surprised when the game was over - there had been a four-minute warning but the traditional two-minute warning is not given now.
